Wheat Situation Viewed More Optimistically

IN SPITE OF BIG SURPLUSES NOW PILED UP

WORLD DEVELOPMENTS ALTER SITUATION, SAYS FEDERAL FARM BOARD

35,000,000 BUSHELS SET ASIDE FOR EXPORT TO BE DISPOSED OF BY JULY

Washington, May 12.—(U.P.)—An increasingly optimistic view of the wheat situation is being taken by the federal farm board, despite the enormous surpluses which have been piled up here and abroad.

World developments have created the prospect of a greater demand for American wheat, and while there is no indication of an immediate betterment in prices, the attitude of the farm board is that the situation will gradually improve.

Chairman James C. Stone said at his regular press conference yesterday that he expected the entire 35,000,000 bushels of wheat set aside by the board for export to be disposed of by July. Practically all of the wheat stored at Atlantic and Gulf ports has been sold at prices above the world level, and sales to the Orient are being made daily from the wheat stored in the Pacific northwest.

Depletion of the 35,000,000 bushels probably would result in allotment of another quantity for export, although the board has not determined its future policy in this regard.

The board is receiving numerous suggestions for disposal of American surpluses, in view of the bumper crops expected this year.

Of the many proposals submitted, the board has studied two carefully, but it was understood today that both had been rejected.

One of the suggestions was that growers be placed under contract to hold 30 per cent of their wheat off the market. It was not believed this would be effective, because of the difficulty of signing up the necessary 85 per cent of the growers.

Another proposal that met opposition both at the White House and at the farm board was to set aside a quarter of the wheat crop for export at whatever price it would bring. This would have the effect of unsettling the market and would be contrary to the board's announced policy of procedure in disposing of surplus stocks.

EINSTEIN SUBMITS NEW THEORY; RESULT OF VISIT TO AMERICA

Berlin, May 12.—(U.P.)—Prof. Albert Einstein, originator of the theory of relativity, submitted to the Prussian academy today a new paper, considered to be the first result of his recent visit to the United States.

Basing his work on compilations by the Russian scientist, Friedman, Einstein has developed a theory that observations made at the Mount Wilson observatory by Edwin P. Hubble on the anagalactical nebulae—nebulae in space beyond the Milky way—can be explained by the relativity theory without resorting to the so-called "cosmological link."

The paper asserts that Einstein's theory has been developed into a method which soon will enable astronomers to decide its applicability in the present instance.

Sniping at Gas Bag Destroys Ability of Goodyear Blimp to Rise

Bakersfield, Calif., May 12.—(U.P.)—The inability of the Goodyear blimp Volunteer to rise from its landing field here, brought the discovery that the craft had been punctured by several rifle bullets, it was learned today.

Verne Smith and Walter Massie, copilots of the craft, which is on a tour of the San Joaquin valley, declared they knew nothing of the possible sniping at the big gas bag until the craft refused to rise from the landing field.

Helium was rushed here from Los Angeles, and the bag was patched up so that it could continue its journey.

Berlin, May 12.—(U.P.)—Capt. Frank W. Hawks, American speed pilot, broke the London-to-Berlin flying record by more than an hour when he arrived at the Tempelhof airfield after a two hour and 55 minute flight.

Official calculation subsequently gave the exact time of the flight as two hours and 57 minutes, with an average speed of 204 miles an hour, as compared with the time of four and a half hours made by the Irishman, Capt. Neville Stack.

Capt. Hawks said that he encountered fog while flying over the English channel.

WILL OPPOSE EACH OTHER FOR FINAL ELECTION FOR MINNEAPOLIS MAYORALTY

MAYOR W. F. KUNZE RUNS A POOR THIRD IN THE PRIMARY

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—(U.P.)—William A. Anderson, farmer-laborite, and Brig. Gen. George E. Leach, former mayor, had been nominated today to oppose each other in the final election June 8 for the mayoralty of Minneapolis.

Mayor W. F. Kunze's candidacy for re-election brought him less than half the votes given to Anderson in yesterday's primary election. Five other candidates trailed after Kunze. The practically complete votes for the three leading candidates:

Kunze—18,274.

The other candidates, who together received less votes than any of the three leaders, were Thomas J. Caton, Clyde A. Weaver, Arthur Kasherman, George E. Powers and Jack E. O'Rourke.

Kunze, who swept Leach out of office in 1929 by 21,000 votes, ran third in practically every one of the city's wards.

The primary election brought to an end one of the bitterest campaigns in Minneapolis history. Charges were hurled back and forth by each candidate. Leach was charged with conducting his campaign on St. Paul's financial support.

Campaign material against the Kunze administration was furnished by a grand jury investigation into alleged police "protection" of liquor, gambling and vice.

Aldermen in eleven wards, three park commissioners and two school directors also were nominated in the election.

20 or 30 Army Posts Will Be Abandoned to Aid President Hoover's Economy Program

SURVEY TO SEE WHAT ELSE THEY CAN BE USED FOR

INVESTIGATED BY ARMY, JUSTICE, AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENTS AND VET BUREAU

RETRENCHMENT PROGRAM TO BE ACCOMPANIED WITH LITTLE HARDSHIP

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, May 12.—Twenty or thirty army posts will be abandoned to aid President Hoover's economy program, it was announced today at the White House.

Mr. Hoover said he had appointed a committee representing the army, justice and agriculture departments and veterans bureau to ascertain which of these sites can be used by the government departments.

The president said he was anxious that the retrenchment program be accompanied with as little hardship as possible to the communities in which the forts are located. In an effort to alleviate this situation, he is instructing the new departmental committee to ascertain which of these sites may be desired by the states for institutional purposes, educational and otherwise.

The executive revealed 13 posts have been quietly abandoned during the past year.

A month ago Mr. Hoover asked the general staff of the army to make a renewed study of the old question whether these outlying posts, constructed as far back as the Indian wars, should be maintained.

His purpose, he said, was two-fold: to determine whether the maximum efficiency of the army required maintenance of these sites, and to see what economies could be made.

"The general staff has insisted that the army must be more largely concentrated," Mr. Hoover said, "because of the large number of subsidiary mechanical services, including aviation."

The 20 or 30 additional posts to be abandoned will be selected immediately, the president added.

INSANE MAN IS CAPTURED IN HIS BARRICADED HOUSE

MARSHALL LODGE TAKEN AT MCCONNELLSBURG, PA., AFTER KILLING SERGEANT

McConnellsburg, Pa., May 12.—Marshall Lodge, 31, an insane man, was captured today in a barricaded house after he shot and killed Sergeant Timothy G. McCarthy, 42, of the Pennsylvania state police and wounded Russell K. Knies, 24, a state trooper.

He was overcome by tear gas and shot in the arm before officers could reach him. The man was armed with pistols, rifles and shotguns, and held off more than forty state policemen, sheriffs and other officers before he was overcome.

According to authorities Lodge recently had been threatening lives of neighbors and several times engaged in shooting escapades.

Frank Lodge, father of the man, requested authorities to place his son in a state institution. Young Lodge had been in the habit of wandering into the woods during the night so it was decided to apprehend him this morning.

Sheriff F. Glen Younker, McConnellsburg, a deputy and three state policemen were detailed to take Lodge into custody. The officers were fired upon by Lodge and McCarthy fell fatally wounded. Knies was seriously wounded.

The maniac locked himself in his bedroom and fired intermittently with rifle, shotgun and pistol at the officers. State policemen shot at the man every time he appeared near a window. The parents of Lodge huddled in the kitchen of the house, outside of the gunfire range.

Lodge roamed from the cellar to the attic, taking pot shots at the officers. As he moved about his father and mother changed their positions. Hundreds of shots were used before tear gas bombs were brought into play. These led to Lodge's capture.

BACK-FENCE FELINE DUETS TO BE REDUCED IN N. Y.

New York, May 12.—(U.P.)—Back-fence feline duets which cause many sleepless nights, are the newest problems facing the noise abatement commission.

But the noise commission is at a loss to learn how it may be enforced.

SAYS SOME FOREST FIRES WERE SET

GROVER M. CONZET, STATE FORESTER, MAKES STATEMENT AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., May 12.—(U.P.)—Grover M. Conzet, state forester, today charged that forest fires in the northern and western parts of the state had been deliberately set to provide jobs for unemployed men.

Conzet ordered a five-cents an hour wage cut for labor employed in fighting forest and brush fires, reducing the wage paid from 25 cents an hour to 20 cents. Further reductions will be made, Conzet said, if the move does not stop fires that are obviously set.

"I have conclusive evidence that several of the largest blazes were deliberately set," Conzet said. "Compared with a normal year, this year has seen a tremendous increase in the number of fires."

"More than 1,000 different fires have been burning at one time in several parts of the state," Conzet said. "All forest fires are now under control and we mean to keep them that way."

Conzet was forced to call upon the state executive committee for an additional appropriation of $50,000 last week to fight forest and grass fires. Previously a $25,000 appropriation had been made.

"If you don't take that back," said Mrs. Fisher, "I'll kill myself." Fisher thought she was not in earnest, and said:

"Go ahead." Rushing to her bedroom, Mrs. Fisher obtained a gun and shot herself through the head. She was dead before her husband could rush her to a hospital.

RIOTING INMATES OF GIRLS' SCHOOL BREAK DISHES

ALABAMA TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS SCENE OF COLORFUL RIOT

HURL RED CLOTHING FROM THE WINDOWS, STRIP GIRLS WHO REFUSE TO JOIN

Birmingham, Ala., May 12.—(U.P.)—Rioting inmates of the Alabama training school for girls broke dishes, hurled red clothing from windows and stripped girls who refused to join them today, before being subdued by police.

All windows in the buildings were shattered during the outbreak, which was led by ten girls whose similar tactics last week sent them to jail for several days.

The superintendent of the institution, Mrs. Ira Champion, has been under fire on charges of alleged mistreatment of inmates. She was exonerated recently by state officials after a hearing at which girls told of being whipped, forced to go without food, and of suffering general indignities.

The leaders of last week's riot were returned from the institution yesterday despite their announced preference for jail. When the patrol wagon carrying them drove up to the school, they refused to enter. Police were ordered not to force the girls from the car, but after two hours' haggling the girls agreed to enter the building.

SPREADING FROM MADRID TO THE PROVINCES TODAY

MOB FIRES JESUIT CONVENT, EPISCOPAL PALACE, NEWS-PAPER OFFICE, MALAGA

AT CADIZ CONVENTS OF CARMELITE AND DOMINICAN ORDERS ARE BURNED

(By United Press)

(Copyright, 1931, by United Press)

Mobs, fired by anti-monarchical and anti-religious enthusiasm, renewed attacks and set fire to churches, convents and other Catholic institutions through Spain today.

Priests, monks and nuns evacuated their residences in several cities.

Martial law was in force in Madrid, Seville, Cadiz and Alicante.

Religious buildings burned included eight in Madrid, three in Malaga, nine in Alicante and three in Seville, a total of 23 so far, besides numerous others which were attacked or set afire but only damaged.

In Alicante, after firing seven buildings earlier, the mob attacked and set fire to the Ave Maria convent and the Capuchin monastery. Firemen were trying to extinguish the flames.

Barcelona after a flare-up yesterday, was reported tranquil.

Disorders also occurred in Malaga and Guillema, where serious trouble was reported. The government hurried troops to Guillema.

The archbishop of Seville ordered all monasteries and convents evacuated after the mobs had burned the Jesuit convent, the Carmelite church and the Church of Buen Suceso. Priceless art objects, vestments and sacred articles were burned in the public square.

The Seville mob twice attempted to set fire to the Jesuit monastery but troops repulsed them.

In Granada all monks and nuns were evacuated and placed in private residences for safety. A mob attempted to set fire to the newspapers Gazeta Del Sol and Noticia Granallina. An unsuccessful attempt also was made to fire the Carmelite convent.

The attempts were not restricted to Jesuits, but were made against Carmelite, Marist, Dominican and other orders.

By WILLIAM H. LANDER (United Press Staff Correspondent) (Copyright, 1931, by United Press)

Madrid, May 12.—Anti-religious hatred which flared in Madrid spread rapidly through the provinces today, fanatical mobs setting fire to convents, churches and other institutions.

A mob set fire today to the Jesuit convent, the Episcopal Palace and the building housing the newspaper El Union Mercantil in Malaga.

At Cadiz, convents of the Carmelite and Dominican orders were burned. The mob, shouting and dancing about the flaming buildings, attacked during the dark hours before dawn.

Demonstrators who began attacks on property of religious orders at Alicante continued their destructive tactics through the night and early today there. Seven buildings in Alicante were burned.

Martial law enforced in Madrid maintained calm during the night. Heavy patrols guard the capital's streets, and police prevented further outbreaks early in the day. Seven religious buildings, including convents, were burned during the riots which yesterday broke out in widely separated sections of the city.

The anti-religious violence in Madrid inspired similar demonstrations in the provinces.

Martial law was declared in Alicante and Cadiz.

At Barcelona, several men in a mob fired shots at Montjuich Castle. Sentries returned the fire. The attackers were dispersed by civil guards.

The outbreaks were blamed by the newly established republican authorities on "the reaction of republican leftists against the strong monarchical campaign" recently started in preparation for the forthcoming constitutional assembly election.

The fact that the primate of Spain, Cardinal Segura, indirectly had urged all Catholics to vote for the monarchists also was held responsible for inflaming the populace to the acts of vandalism.

The republican government ordered the arrest of all members of the monarchist cabinet headed by the late dictator, Gen. Primo De Rivera.

Gen. Damasco Berenguer, who succeeded De Rivera as dictator, already had been reelected. He was ordered held on grave charges.

The soldiers and police maintained order. They fraternized with the crowds, however, and did not seek to stop the mob from carrying out its destructive actions.

Armored tanks participated in the patrols, guarding the Jesuit convent. The crowds, in good humor, were more interested in the tanks than the burned property.

Porterville, Calif., May 12.—(U.P.)—Vernon D. Boller, 30, war time aviator, was killed today when a crop-dusting airplane of the Aerial Crop Dusting corporation, Los Angeles, crashed on a ranch near here.

Captain Charles M. Lockwood, here shown shaking hands with Secretary of War Hurley, won the distinction of being the only man known to enter the President's office with an intoxicant on his person. Lockwood, as sole survivor, fell heir.

BURNED PEAS AND SCORCHED STEAK LED TO WIFE'S SUICIDE

Hollywood, Calif., May 12.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Eleanor Fisher, 27, former New York dancer, burned the peas and scorched the steak last night. "You'll ruin my stomach with this bum cooking," jestingly said her husband, James B. H. Fisher, motion picture executive.

"If you don't take that back," said Mrs. Fisher, "I'll kill myself." Fisher thought she was not in earnest, and said:

"Go ahead."

Rushing to her bedroom, Mrs. Fisher obtained a gun and shot herself through the head. She was dead before her husband could rush her to a hospital.

RIOTING INMATES OF GIRLS' SCHOOL BREAK DISHES

ALABAMA TRAINING SCHOOL FOR GIRLS SCENE OF COLORFUL RIOT

HURL RED CLOTHING FROM THE WINDOWS, STRIP GIRLS WHO REFUSE TO JOIN

Birmingham, Ala., May 12.—(U.P.)—Rioting inmates of the Alabama training school for girls broke dishes, hurled red clothing from windows and stripped girls who refused to join them today, before being subdued by police.

All windows in the buildings were shattered during the outbreak, which was led by ten girls whose similar tactics last week sent them to jail for several days.

The superintendent of the institution, Mrs. Ira Champion, has been under fire on charges of alleged mistreatment of inmates. She was exonerated recently by state officials after a hearing at which girls told of being whipped, forced to go without food, and of suffering general indignities.

The leaders of last week's riot were returned from the institution yesterday despite their announced preference for jail. When the patrol wagon carrying them drove up to the school, they refused to enter. Police were ordered not to force the girls from the car, but after two hours' haggling the girls agreed to enter the building.

MOB FIRES JESUIT CONVENT, EPISCOPAL PALACE, NEWS-PAPER OFFICE, MALAGA

AT CADIZ CONVENTS OF CARMELITE AND DOMINICAN ORDERS ARE BURNED

(By United Press)
(Copyright, 1931, by United Press)

Mobs, fired by anti-monarchical and anti-religious enthusiasm, renewed attacks and set fire to churches, convents and other Catholic institutions through Spain today.

Priests, monks and nuns evacuated their residences in several cities.

Martial law was in force in Madrid, Seville, Cadiz and Alicante.

Religious buildings burned included eight in Madrid, three in Malaga, nine in Alicante and three in Seville, a total of 23 so far, besides numerous others which were attacked or set afire but only damaged.

In Alicante, after firing seven buildings earlier, the mob attacked and set fire to the Ave Maria convent and the Capuchin monastery. Firemen were trying to extinguish the flames.

Barcelona after a flare-up yesterday, was reported tranquil.

Disorders also occurred in Malaga and Guillema, where serious trouble was reported. The government hurried troops to Guillema.

The archbishop of Seville ordered all monasteries and convents evacuated after the mobs had burned the Jesuit convent, the Carmelite church and the Church of Buen Suceso. Priceless art objects, vestments and sacred articles were burned in the public square.

The Seville mob twice attempted to set fire to the Jesuit monastery but troops repulsed them.

In Granada all monks and nuns were evacuated and placed in private residences for safety. A mob attempted to set fire to the newspapers, Gaceta, Del Sol and Noticia Granadina. An unsuccessful attempt also was made to fire the Carmelite convent.

The attempts were not restricted to Jesuits, but were made against Carmelite, Marist, Dominican and other orders.

Madrid, May 12.—Anti-religious hatred which flared in Madrid spread rapidly through the provinces today, fanatical mobs setting fire to convents, churches and other institutions.

A mob set fire today to the Jesuit convent, the Episcopal Palace and the building housing the newspaper El Union Mercantil in Malaga.

At Cadiz, convents of the Carmelite and Dominican orders were burned. The mob, shouting and dancing about the flaming buildings, attacked during the dark hours before dawn.

Demonstrators who began attacks on property of religious orders at Alicante continued their destructive tactics through the night and early today there. Seven buildings in Alicante were burned.

Martial law enforced in Madrid maintained calm during the night. Heavy patrols guard the capital's streets, and police prevented further outbreaks early in the day. Seven religious buildings, including convents, were burned during the riots which yesterday broke out in widely separated sections of the city.

The anti-religious violence in Madrid inspired similar demonstrations in the provinces.

Martial law was declared in Alicante and Cadiz.

At Barcelona, several men in a mob fired shots at Montjuich Castle. Sentries returned the fire. The attackers were dispersed by civil guards.

The outbreaks were blamed by the newly established republican authorities on "the reaction of republican leftists against the strong monarchical campaign" recently started in preparation for the forthcoming constitutional assembly election.

The fact that the primate of Spain, Cardinal Segura, indirectly had urged all Catholics to vote for the monarchists also was held responsible for inflaming the populace to the acts of vandalism.

The republican government ordered the arrest of all members of the monarchist cabinet headed by the late dictator, Gen. Primo De Rivera.

Gen. Damasco Berenguer, who succeeded De Rivera as dictator, already had been reelected. He was ordered held on grave charges.

The soldiers and police maintained order. They fraternized with the crowds, however, and did not seek to stop the mob from carrying out its destructive actions.

Armored tanks participated in the patrols, guarding the Jesuit convent. The crowds, in good humor, were more interested in the tanks than the burned property.

Porterville, Calif., May 12.—(U.P.)—Vernon D. Boller, 30, war time aviator, was killed today when a crop-dusting airplane of the Aerial Crop Dusting corporation, Los Angeles, crashed on a ranch near here.

OH THESE WOMEN!

By
LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

This fine woman in her middle thirties has tried everything she can think of to hold her husband close to her, and, in spite of her efforts, he is slipping away. He tells her that if she doesn't get a divorce, he will leave her. Distracted, she writes to ask what she can do now.

She has put forth a great effort and, I fancy from her letter, has been kindly and patient. I hardly know what to tell you, Mrs. K. You remember what Kipling wrote about "When a man is tired there is naught will bind him—all his solemn promise he will shove behind him. What's the use of praying for the wrath to strike him, Mary, pity women, when the rest are like him?"

I'm not that great a pessimist, but it's true Mrs. K., that if you have lost and you can't win him back, you will have to meet your defeat with a brave front, and save all you can from the wreckage. First of all hold on to your self-respect. You will then have at least his respect, if you can't hold his love. And remember that you are the more worthwhile person of the two, and that if you continue to hold your head high, even though your heart hurts, you will find it easier to bear your burden than if you show your hurt to the world and pine away among happy people.

Often Mrs. K., men like that are glad to turn back to their wives to beg humbly for forgiveness. You may have disappointed him but don't disappoint yourself now, and do anything you will regret.

It's a strange thing, this love, strolling boldly into places where it is neither wanted nor welcome, and lashing out of places where it should remain in everlasting peace and quiet.

But when a love tragedy hits you, it's well and extremely helpful to remember that few love affairs—if any—ever travel along smoothly. People find love and then are careless of it. It must have the most painstaking care in order to live long. And instead of giving it that, we shove it around until from the very weariness of our behavior, or from the ache of the punishments administered, it slinks away. And then it finds happiness elsewhere and breaks our hearts.

The best thing to do when love seems to be leaving, is to look back and think what you did to first drive it weeping into a corner. Then take careful inventory and see how many times you repeated the offense, with lessening effect upon the victim until there was no effect at all. That's the mistake to correct and women know how. Do it before it is too late.

It's not easy to go back and reclaim love. For some unknown reason, some very tragic reason, when love is dead, it is deadlier than anything else that dies. A little care earlier in the game is the best advice, and courage to meet defeat if love goes away. And keep alive the memory that you are not the only one to whom this tragedy of love comes. Almost everyone you meet has known love disappointment, some more than once. The fact that you have it staring you in the face now means that you are a human being with the rest of us, taking your earthly punishment—even if you can't think of the reason.

I don't mean he isn't completely to blame. He may be. But if he is, he will, eventually suffer more than you are suffering now. I'll promise you that. It's a rule that never fails. Is it any satisfaction to you to know that?

If it is, you don't love him.

OH THESE WOMEN!

By
LEOLA ALLARD

Copyright 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

This fine woman in her middle thirties has tried everything she can think of to hold her husband close to her, and, in spite of her efforts, he is slipping away. He tells her that if she doesn't get a divorce, he will leave her. Distracted, she writes to ask what she can do now.

She has put forth a great effort and, I fancy from her letter, has been kindly and patient. I hardly know what to tell you, Mrs. K. You remember what Kipling wrote about "When a man is tired there is naught will bind him—all his solemn promise he will shove behind him. What's the use of praying for the wrath to strike him, Mary, pity women, when the rest are like him!"

I'm not that great a pessimist, but it's true Mrs. K., that if you have lost and you can't win him back, you will have to meet your defeat with a brave front, and save all you can from the wreckage. First of all hold on to your self-respect. You will then have at least his respect, if you can't hold his love. And remember that you are the more worthwhile person of the two, and that if you continue to hold your head high, even though your heart hurts, you will find it easier to bear your burden than if you show your hurt to the world and pine away among happy people.

Often, Mrs. K., men like that are glad to turn back to their wives to beg humbly for forgiveness. You may have disappointed him but don't disappoint yourself now, and do anything you will regret.

It's a strange thing, this love, strolling boldly into places where it is neither wanted nor welcome, and lashing out of places where it should remain in everlasting peace and quiet. But when a love tragedy hits you, it's well and extremely helpful to remember that few love affairs—if any—ever travel along smoothly. People and love and then are careless of it. It must have the most painstaking care in order to live long. And instead of giving it that, we shove it around until from the very weariness of our behavior, or from the ache of the punishments administered, it slinks away. And then it finds happiness elsewhere and breaks our hearts.

The best thing to do when love seems to be leaving, is to look back and think what you did to first drive it weeping into a corner. Then take a careful inventory and see how many times you repeated the offense, with lessening effect upon the victim until there was no effect at all. That's the mistake to correct and women know how. Do it before it is too late.

It's not easy to go back and reclaim love. For some unknown reason, some very tragic reason, when love is dead, it is deadlier than anything else that dies. A little care earlier in the game is the best advice, and courage to meet defeat if love goes away. And keep alive the memory that you are not the only one to whom this tragedy of love comes. Almost everyone you meet has known love disappointment, some more than once. The fact that you have it staring you in the face now means that you are a human being with the rest of us, taking your earthly punishment—even if you can't think of the reason.

I don't mean he isn't completely to blame. He may be. But if he is, he will, eventually suffer more than you are suffering now. I'll promise you that. It's a rule that never fails. Is it any satisfaction to you to know that?

If it is, you don't love him.

FARM HAND IN FINAL CONFESSION

AFTER 12 HOURS RAY WILT, 17 SAYS HE COMMITTED THE HATCHET MURDERS

Canton, O., May 12.—(UP)—Ray Wilt, 17-year-old Ohio farmhand, today broke under the strain of 12 hours questioning and confessed to the hatchet slayings of his invalid employer, Edward B. Thomas, 46, and his wife, Ethel, 44, it was claimed by Prosecutor James E. Augst.

Augst said that the youth killed his employer and wife to obtain possession of $100, a radio and their small sedan.

He was traced through the sedan to the home of a friend and captured less than 24 hours after the mutilated bodies of his two victims were found stuffed in a clothes press.

According to the prosecutor, the young farmhand gave a graphic description of the tragedy in his confession.

"I got a sudden idea to kill Mrs. Thomas for the money. Thomas, who was paralyzed interred while I was struggling with his wife. The invalid wheeled his chair toward me, brandishing a knife. I hit him with the hatchet, and returned to finish the woman," Augst quoted the youth as saying.

The prosecutor said that Wilt then dragged the bodies to the closet, attempted to obliterate traces of the crime by mopping up the blood-stained floor with bedclothes, and fled in the sedan with the money and radio.

A BOAT SONG

A song to sing and a song to play! What could be more fun? Below is a picture of a piano keyboard. The letters you see printed on the white keys are the names of the notes, and the letters with the little signs after them, printed above the black keys, are the name of the sharps and flats. Each black note plays two different parts, sometimes it is used as a flat and sometimes it is used as a sharp. The sharp names are above the flat ones on this piano picture.

All ready to begin? This will be very much like a puzzle, you know, and you mustn't give up till you get to the end.

(1) Find the middle of the piano, both on the picture, and your real one.

(2) Find the note which is marked c with one line over it, first in the picture, then on the piano.

(3) Now play up the keyboard until you reach the c with two lines over it. There! The Boat Song begins on this note.

(4) Keep your finger on the two line c and play from the notes given on the chart below left to right. The commas after the names of the notes on the chart tell you where to pause. Be sure to notice whether the notes you play have one or two lines over them. If you don't you may play high when you should play low.

How to Make a Plant Protector
*****

Dick is planning to have a garden of his own next spring. He has questioned his mother already about tomatoes, radishes and lettuce. He plans to have a few flowers, too.

His father bought for him ten cents worth of small size staples, some nails and one ball of twine. Dick is very busy now making a plant protector. Dick believes in being prepared early.

For the plant protector he makes a frame (A) as illustrated, from thin strips of wood. On the side strips he drilled a few small holes for the nails or pieces of wire (B) to hold the box at the desired height. On the top strip, in the middle of it, he inserted an eye hook (D) through which he puts a light cord (C), tying the ends of it to the bottom of the old paper box. This was to keep the box tilted in the desired position after fastening the cord around the hook. This frame Dick is going to drive into the ground in his garden as soon as the plants show above the soil. Can you make one like it?

BRING TALES OF VAMPIRE BATS

MEASURE 38 INCHES TIP TO TIP, FOUND IN BRAZILIAN JUNGLES

New York, May 12.—(UP)—Two members of an American expedition into the Brazilian jungles returned today aboard the steamer American Legion with tales of vampire bats 38 inches from tip to tip, and four inch fish with teeth that will attack anything entering the water in which they live.

The men were John Newell, Kalamazoo, Mich., sound engineer and radio operator for the group, and William Green Jr., Trenton, N. J., zoologist.

Green was recovering from the bite of a poisonous snake, Newell and other members of the party had suffered fever and sunstroke and they reported Alexander Seimel, "tiger man," leader of the expedition, had been in a hospital in Montevideo, Uruguay, recovering from an alligator bite.

"Sometimes we were without food for days," Newell said, "and then we ate wild monkeys and alligator tails."

"I was attacked one day in the radio quarters by this huge vampire bat," Green said. "It measure 38 inches from tip to tip, and came flying into the radio quarters of the expedition."

"I threw some red meat to it later, which it refused to eat. However, it sucked the meat dry of blood within a very few minutes."

"One of our oxen became bogged in the river during one stage of our trip inland. Within 25 minutes these tiny fish with teeth had stripped his carcass bare of flesh. The fish is called the piranha."

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

Now! Please!—Actually put your finger on your Adam's Apple. Touch it—your Adam's Apple—Do you know you are actually touching your larynx?—This is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants—Reach for a LUCKY instead—Remember, LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette in America that through its exclusive "TOASTING" process expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. ## Extends Cordial Invitation

THE following invitation has been issued by Richard C. Cabot, president of the National Conference of Social Work, to social workers, board members and public officials from all sections of the country and all phases of social work:

"You are cordially invited to attend and participate in the 58th annual meeting of the National Conference of Social Work at Minneapolis, June 14-20. At this conference, you will hear carefully prepared and authentic papers on a wide range of timely and important subjects related to social work. You can share in the discussion of the methods, administration, causes and aims of social work. This is an opportunity to meet and discuss personally your particular problems with the expert leaders in your field of interest.

"We hope that you will widen your vision, gain perspective on yourself and your job, exchange ideas and experience, rub shoulders with social workers, board members and public officials from all sections of the country and all phases of social work. You can arrange your work at the conference so that you will go home renewed in spirit and better equipped for your work. Whether or not you are a member of the conference (and we especially urge you to become one), if you have a real interest in human welfare, you are invited."

Mrs. W. H. Gemmell, of Brainerd, long interested in many phases of welfare work, has been instrumental in securing attendance of a large delegation from Brainerd.

The Lakes are Beckoning

THE lakes, ice-free and redolent of summer days, are beckoning and most Brainerd people with cottages are there getting things in readiness for a season that gives every indication of starting early this year. There is every sign that we are to have a fine summer with temperature of a satisfying kind and not subject to any relapses of cold chills.

Throughout the Twin Cities the talk is all about summer vacations and the Brainerd Lake Region comes in for a lot of attention. Interest is being taken in renting cottages, in making reservations at resorts, in patronizing the wonderful hotel system that is expanding at the lakes.

Highway improvements will bring more people to the lakes, for every betterment in roads means a corresponding increase in travel.

The Camp Ripley opening in June inaugurates a new source of summer visitor. Each soldier can be counted on to have friends and relatives who will be interested in seeing him in maneuvers and then inspecting the lake country about Brainerd. Many of these people will take up what amounts to almost permanent residence here during the summer season.

As stated by Hon. Edward P. Scallon, heavy purchases for Camp Ripley supplies and maintenance will be made in this section, plus also the many individual purchases of the soldiers and their friends and relatives.

On every hand one sees renewed confidence in the lake country. It is noted in the increasing inquiry regarding lake properties for sale and rent, etc.

Increasing Tourist Business

THE Chamber of Commerce through its Tourist Committee is very desirous of increasing the tourist business.

The Ten Thousand Lakes Association figure the tourist business of Minnesota at $80,000,000.

The road census of 1930 shows 1445 foreign licenses on Highway No. 30 out of Detroit Lakes, 1005 on Highway No. 29 out of Alexandria and only 642 on combined Highways No. 19 and No. 2 out of Brainerd. Yet we have more resorts and better resorts than any other section in the State of Minnesota. These figures force us to believe that we are not getting our share of the tourist business.

How can we get it? The committee states that by advertising the attractions of our Brainerd lake region through maps, billboards, newspapers, etc., more business can be secured. Other sections are doing so successfully. Here we have an $80,000,000 business within reach. Let's go and get our share by letting people know what we have.

Every merchant and resort owner gets his share of the tourist dollar. The resorts patronize the wholesalers. The individual buys from the retailer. The retailer and wholesaler directly and through their hundreds of employees pay taxes, buy supplies and keep money in circulation. If we did not have the present tremendous increase in business during the summer where would Brainerd business be?

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce will begin solicitations for advertising funds Wednesday and Thursday of this week. In addition all the resorts in the territory will also be asked to aid in the general campaign to better advertise the merits of this great lake region.

EIGHT thousand delegates from all parts of the world will attend the sessions of International Rotary to be held next month in Vienna. Three thousand Americans are expected. Brainerd Rotary club will be represented by its president, Carl Zapffe. The latter, a fluent linguist, will be able to understand at first hand any addresses made in German.

BANDS from many parts of the northwest, including Canada, will participate in the annual North Dakota band tournament at Williston June 17. Bands from Estevan, Sask.; Culbertson and Scooby, Mont., and from Grenora, Arnegard, Stanley, Ray, Alamo, Wildrose, Zahl, Powers Lake, and Watford City, N. D., will be included in the contest.

CROSSING of two sunfish species at the University of Michigan is said to have resulted in the production of a new variety of fish which is larger and more pugnacious than either of its parents. It matures at a rapid rate and is a cross of the "punkin seed" and the green sunfish.

GROVE PATTERSON declares that "highway smallpox" is a well selected word that somebody has coined for the epidemic of billboards with which an otherwise pleasant countryside is afflicted. The signboard "art" simply won't blend with the beauty of nature and the landscape.

WARRIORS RETURN FROM AITKIN BEARING TROPHY FOR TRACK EVENTS

FOUR FIRST PLACES TAKEN BY
B. H. S. MEN; ENCOUR-AGING SIGN

Coaches Bill Dammann and Ben Taylor's proteges journeyed to Aitkin last Friday afternoon and easily won the Aitkin invitational meet held there. The Warriors amassed 54 points to their nearest rival's 39.

The showing that the Warrior track team made against strong opposition offered by Aitkin, Little Falls, Crosby, Ironton, Pine River, Grand Rapids, and Mora was exceedingly encouraging. Judging from this exhibition and with a little more practice and polishing from the experienced eyes of the coaches, the material this year shows good possibilities of duplicating the record set by last year's team. At least we're all boosting for them.

The Warriors carried away four first places. Schuety smashed all district records in the low hurdles by clearing them in 27.7 seconds. Moe circled the 140 track in 55.4 seconds for first place. The Warriors added another first place when Hohman sailed over the bar at 5 feet 7 inches.

Jerry Wygie raised himself over the bar at 11 feet to tie for first place in the pole vault. Vernon Marshall heaved the shot 38 feet 10 inches for another first.

Brainerd took not only many first places, but captured many second and third places to boost their score.

White put the shot 38 feet for second in that event. Bob Wygie hurled the javelin 136 feet for second. McLeerie took third in the 100-yard dash while Malmstrom ran second in the 880.

Marshall and Foster took second and fourth places in the discus. Nathan Schuety added another place by taking third in the broad jump.

The relay team consisting of Dahl, Moe, McLeerie and Schuety took third in the half-mile relay.

ANNA CASS TO LEAD TRI-HI IN '32

MARIE RAU, EVANGELINE TWIST
AND KATHLEEN CARDLE
ACCOMPANYING OFFICERS

At one of the closest elections held, Anna Cass was chosen president of the Tri-Hi club, last night. Her accompanying cabinet members are Marie Rau, vice president; Evangeline Twist, secretary; and Kathleen Cardle, treasurer. Throughout the entire election were many ties and on majority of votes. Those who participated in the close race were Jean Lucas and Clarence Olson for president and Dorothy Kinney, Doris Geist, and Arline Benson for secretary. Mae McQuillan, Marie Thoe, and Dorothy Opsahl were selected by the nominating committee to run for the position of treasurer.

After the returns of the election were announced, four exceedingly short speeches were given by the new occupants who expressed their extreme sorrow caused by the departing Senior members and their high desire for the betterment of the club next year.

The next important business to be settled was the project of the annual Tri-Hi week end which date has been definitely settled for May 8, 9, 10 at Jones' cottage on Gull Lake. The average cost per person is expected to be about seventy-five cents which will include free swimming (if enough are brave). This annual event is the most looked forward to occasion of the whole year which always gives the girls many happy and comical memories to be remembered long afterward.

"Sing A Song of Seniors," the play to be given as an assembly program May 15, will begin practice this week with the first rehearsal at Amy Markham's Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Girls Vie For ATHLETIC HONORS

HORSESHOE, TENNIS, KITTEN-

In the kittenball tournament the seniors and sophomores have been defeated by the freshmen and juniors respectively.

Upper-Classmen to Hold Spring Picnic at Ruttger's

At a senior meeting held last week a new class song was adopted. The words were written in the characteristic style of our poet, Rose Johnson, and will be sung to the tune of "The Orange and the Black."

Two hundred dollars was the sum voted on to be paid Mrs. Heald for the painting. Half of this has already been paid.

The junior-senior picnic, to be held Friday, May 15, was the subject of chief interest at the meeting. Ruttger's is the popular picnic place this year, and Ruttger's will be the picnic location Friday. The president appointed a responsible committee of girls to help take charge.

School Board Seeds Lawn Around Building

The High School lawn is the scene of great activity these days, for the School Board is taking the necessary steps to make it a thing of emerald beauty. Men are rolling and seeding putting on top dressing and rolling again in scientific fashion so that the surface may be perfectly flat. With the rains coming so opportunely, a few days should see the green shoots coming through the surface, and by the end of the summer the lawn should be a velvety green.

Even though the ice cream did not arrive, the picnicers themselves brought along a sufficient amount of food to satisfy the large appetites created by exercise in the out of doors. Everyone enjoyed himself.

A certain prominent statesman tells the story that one day just after his young son had inquired, "Daddy, where do congressmen go when they die?" a voice from the family radio broke in—"and they, little children, are the animals that furnish the beautiful white keys for mother's piano!"

For the Graduate Gifts of Lasting Character

You want your gift to be something permanent, of course . . . something that will remind the graduate of this event for many years to come.

So choose a gift of precious metal—a gift of lasting character. A fine watch, for example, in a case of natural yellow gold—a ring set with some precious stone.

There are many distinctive gifts—for both girls and boys—to choose from. And their prices are surprisingly moderate.

Stop in—you're always welcome just to look around!

Those who participated in the close race were Jean Lucas and Clarice Olson for president and Dorothy Kinney, Doris Geist, and Arline Benson for secretary. Mae McQuillan, Marie Thoe, and Dorothy Opsahl were selected by the nominating committee to run for the position of treasurer.

After the returns of the election were announced, four exceedingly short speeches were given by the new occupants who expressed their extreme sorrow caused by the departing Senior members and their high desire for the betterment of the club next year.

The next important business to be settled was the project of the annual Tri-Hi week end which date has been definitely settled for May 8, 9, 10 at Jones' cottage on Gull Lake. The average cost per person is expected to be about seventy-five cents which will include free swimming (if enough are brave). This annual event is the most looked forward to occasion of the whole year which always gives the girls many happy and comical memories to be remembered long afterward.

"Sing A Song of Seniors," the play to be given as an assembly program May 15, will begin practice this week with the first rehearsal at Amy Markham's Wednesday, at 7:30 p. m.

In the kittenball tournament the seniors and sophomores have been defeated by the freshmen and juniors respectively.

Upper-Classmen to Hold Spring Picnic at Ruttger's

At a senior meeting held last week a new class song was adopted. The words were written in the characteristic style of our poet, Rose Johnson, and will be sung to the tune of "The Orange and the Black."

Two hundred dollars was the sum voted on to be paid Mrs. Heald for the painting. Half of this has already been paid.

The junior-senior picnic, to be held Friday, May 15, was the subject of chief interest at the meeting. Ruttger's is the popular picnic place this year, and Ruttger's will be the picnic location Friday. The president appointed a responsible committee of girls to help take charge.

SKOOL SKANDEL

Next Friday is the anniversary of a great occasion, the birth of one of our sweet Sophomores, Margaret Huston is sweet sixteen and never been kissed (by the right one). Get our your paddles.

Wanted: A young man to escort blushing maidens to the Prom. These youngsters must be over the short pants stage, between four and seven feet in height, must be capable of eating with silverware, and able to walk around the dance floor with a girl in his arms. All volunteers be prepared for the rush.

The weatherman played a trick on the Tri-Hi club. The sky blue water came directly from the heavens. The gods, out of the kindness of their hearts, continued to pour upon the earth this beautifying balm. Sorry to say it didn't have the desired effect on these maidens.

All cake walkers be sure to bring your money Wednesday for the French club sale. Huge, mountain-like pieces of this delicious pastry will be exchanged for all nickles in good condition. Hunt up mother's old sock.

It is queer that John Zander picks an "ate" lecture out of all the Sunday sermons to read to his lady friend, the coy little Clara Grizel, to the east seat in the balcony? The light does not penetrate to this far corner. We wonder how much of the sermon was heard.

Hiking by the river seems to be a favorite sport on Sunday afternoons for a few members of the Senior class. Guess who?????

HI-Y INITIATES MEMBERS AT FROLIC AT SOUTH LONG

PLEDGES COFFEY, KOECK, HOHMAN, WHITE, FRANKS, PERLMAN ACCEPTED

Amid the gentle showers of rain last Saturday, some 30 Hi-Y members enjoyed their annual picnic at Crust's cottage on South Long Lake.

Immediately upon arriving, a snappy and close kitchenball game was played with the Sophomores and Junior forces combined defeating the Seniors who had such stars as Mr. Penrose and Mr. Peterson in their rank.

On the banks of South Long the initiation services were performed with the following "getting the works": Melvin Coffey, Thomas Koeck, Lowell White, Ted Franks, Art Hohman, and Isadore Perlman, after which the members retired to the cottage where an excellent lunch was served consisting of sandwiches, potato salad, a delicious roast, pickles, doughnuts, coffee and ice cream.

Although the outing was accompanied by a slight rain, the members made the picnic one of the most successful events of the school and Hi-Y year.

An entertainment committee composed of Elizabeth Patterson, Walter Kurz, and Audrey Erickson was appointed while another consisting of Irja Hautala, Genevieve Twist, and Gene Swanson, is to handle the general arrangements of the picnic.

All sophomores are urged to pay their last semester dues to Genevieve Twist before Friday to finance the picnic and pay for class section in the annual.

School Board Seeds

Lawn Around Building

The High School lawn is the scene of great activity these days, for the School Board is taking the necessary steps to make it a thing of emerald beauty. Men are rolling and seeding putting on top dressing and rolling again in scientific fashion so that the surface may be perfectly flat. With the rains coming so opportunely, a few days should see the green shoots coming through the surface, and by the end of the summer the lawn should be a velvety green.

THE STORMY WEATHER CANNOT DAMPEN SPIRITS OF THIRTY TRI-HI MEMBERS

Rain and lots of it couldn't dampen the spirits of 15 members of the Brainerd Tri-Hi who attended an annual week end party at Jones' cottage on Gull Lake under the chaperonage of Mrs. Penrose which lasted from Friday evening until late Sunday afternoon.

Although few hikes could be taken in actual comfort and swimming was utterly impossible, the girls found diversified entertainment in eating, playing cards, talking (especially), dancing, reading, and giggling. The fireplace with its roaring fire served as a good background for these pastimes and much better for the harrowing tale of "Dracula" related by Helen Sheets.

Friday night, Alice Nolan, Arline Hagberg, and Jean Lucas constituted the committee who had to make the dinner, etc. Doris Geist, Vina Gilmer, and Joyce Smith, worked Saturday morning. While Kathleen Cardle, Marjorie McGaffigan, Frances Peterson, and Kathryn Saxrud worked in the afternoon. Helen Sheets, Louise Clausen and Dorothy Kinney made the Sunday breakfast. All helped Dorothy Opsahl with the Sunday dinner (which consisted of left overs, a luscious cake ala Mrs. Hagberg, and fruit jello made by Mrs. Clausen).

Alice Nolan who has a peculiar affliction which is caused by fried eggs, was forced by hunger to partake of "two" fried eggs. Woe be to Alice! The witticisms of Jean Lucas helped to overcome Alice's "Mald Mar" as well as dispell the gloom from the day.

Altogether the good eats, all-around good sportsmanship, carefree aid, and amusing incidents and anecdotes produced a most happy week end and one that shall long be remembered and discussed.

EXCHANGE

Admiral Richard E. Byrd will appear in person at Dubuque, Iowa, high school, May 19. He will give a lecture, illustrated by movies on his trip to the South Pole.

JUNIOR CLASS PICNICS AT RUTTGER'S LODGE

Ruttger's on Bay Lake was the scene of this year's annual Junior class picnic Friday afternoon. A few drops of rain in the latter part of the afternoon only added zest to the enjoyment everyone was having. Some played tennis while others occupied their time with kittenball and it is even rumored that some brave lads (not any girl) went in swimming. The thick woods afforded enjoyment for nature loving individuals.

Even though the ice cream did not arrive, the picnicers themselves brought along a sufficient amount of food to satisfy the large appetites created by exercise in the out of doors. Everyone enjoyed himself.

Solid Ivory

A certain prominent statesman tells the story that one day just after his young son had inquired, "Daddy, where do congressmen go when they die?" a voice from the family radio broke in—"and they, little children, are the animals that furnish the beautiful white keys for mother's piano!"

For the Graduate Gifts of Lasting Character

You want your gift to be something permanent, of course . . . something that will remind the graduate of this event for many years to come.

So choose a gift of precious metal—a gift of lasting character. A fine watch, for example, in a case of natural yellow gold—a ring set with some precious stone.

There are many distinctive gifts—for both girls and boys—to choose from. And their prices are surprisingly moderate.

Stop in—you're always welcome just to look around!

57TH ANNUAL RUNNING OF DERBY OCCURS SATURDAY

ADVANCE GUARD OF 100,000 PERSONS NOW TREKKING TO KENTUCKY

GENERAL CONSENSUS IS THAT RACE WILL BE MORE OF AN OPEN AFFAIR THIS YEAR

By CHARLES M. BERR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Louisville, Ky., May 12.—The annual migration of the sporting world to historic Churchill Downs in the foothills of Kentucky was in full swing today.

As the advance guard of the 100,000 persons expected to witness the fifty-seventh annual running of the Kentucky Derby Saturday came to Louisville, all but one of the three-year-olds expected to go to the barrier for the classic were on the grounds.

The lone absentee was Ben Block's Morstone, the eastern horse regarded so favorably until beaten at Jamaica yesterday. The other eastern candidates, headed by Mate, Preakness winner, arrived yesterday from Maryland.

In addition to Mate the group included Twenty Grand, runner-up in the Preakness, Laddie, Surf Board, Anchors Aweigh and Equipose, one of the early favorites for the derby title whose hopes received a severe setback when he failed to place in the Pimlico classic Saturday.

With the arrival of the eastern entries, speculation as to the probable winner continued with the general consensus among horsemen that the race this year would be more of an open affair than ever before.

A more definite lineup on a favorite may be forthcoming today following the last of the derby trials, a race of one and one sixteenth miles for the western candidates. The competition will serve as the final hand training run for Pittsburgher, Sweep All, Spanish Play, The Mongol, Prince D'Amour and Major Lanphier.

Up, Mrs. J. N. Crofton's chestnut son of High Cloud and Idleness, stamped himself of derby caliber and a certain starter yesterday when he defeated five other campaigners in a special mile race. Mike Hall, Agua Caliente handicap victor, and Kene-saw, another derby eligible, were among those defeated. The Crofton candidate ran the mile in 1:14.16 over a heavy track. C. McHugh, who will ride up in the derby, was in the saddle. Sunday's rains made the track muddy and most of the candidates were let off with light workouts yesterday. With forecasters calling for clear and cool weather Friday and Saturday, indications are that the track will be lightning fast.

THAT AFFECTS EITHER HORNSBY OR WILSON TOO

RAJAH IS MANAGER AND BACK-ED BY OWNER AND PRESIDENT

HORNSBY DRAWS $40,000 SALARY AND WILSON $35,000 A YEAR

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, May 12.—The apparently premature reports that Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs, planned to bench Hack Wilson, second highest paid player in the National League, because of his batting slump served one purpose—they showed that Hornsby stands with his boss.

"Rogers Hornsby is manager of the Cubs and he is running the ball club," said William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the team, when the rumor reached him from New York about Hornsby's contemplated action.

"Everything is in Hornsby's hands and I have the greatest confidence in him."

If Hornsby needed any more support, it came from William Veeck, Cubs president who is ill at his home. "Hornsby has charge of the Cubs and whatever changes he wishes to make are entirely in his power," said Veeck.

Any trouble between Hornsby and Wilson would wreck the championship hopes of the Cubs, and the two ball players probably know that better than anyone on the outside. Hornsby is drawing a salary of $40,000 and Wilson approximately $35,000, and both are good business men. They may not be particularly fond of each other, but when it comes to a baseball game the odds are that they understand each other pretty well.

Hornsby told the writer last week he wouldn't hesitate to bench himself or any player if the occasion called for such a move. If Wilson were batting .270 in 50 or 60 games instead of 19, the chances are he would bench him if he had a better man to take his place.

The biggest risk Hornsby would run would be in arousing public sentiment against him and for the more popular Wilson, but Hornsby has incited the fans against him before and seems to be immune to what they say or think.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT CAMPAIGN FITS PREDICTIONS

JUSTIFIES PRE-SEASON OPINIONS OF MANY BASEBALL
EXPERTS

IN 5TH WEEK 4 TEAMS REGARDED AS STRONGEST HOLD 1ST DIVISION BERTHS

New York, May 12.—The American League's 1931 pennant campaign apparently is justifying the pre-season opinions of baseball experts.

As the fifth week of the race started the four teams regarded as the strongest in the circuit are holding the first division berths, although the Philadelphia Athletics, favorites to repeat their championship performances of 1929 and 1930, are still a game from first place.

The Yankees in first place hold a one-game advantage over the Athletics and Indians who are tied for second while Washington in fourth position is a game and a half from the league leadership.

When the season started, Philadelphia was the favorite to win first honors with Washington a close second and the Indians and Yankees battling it out for third and fourth places.

Washington advanced to fourth place yesterday by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 14 to 4, in the only American contest played. The Senators clinched the game by scoring six runs in the first inning.

Rain and cold weather forced postponement of the Boston-Cleveland, Philadelphia-St. Louis and New York-Chicago games.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who also have lived up to pre-season predictions by building up a substantial lead against the western National League clubs, began their inter-sectional competition by dropping a 2 to 1 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Heinie Meine pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4 to 2 victory over Brooklyn in the other National League contest of the day. Meine allowed but five hits.

TWO NEW LINKS ADDED TO AIRMAIL, PASSENGER SERVICE

St. Paul, May 12.—(U.P.)—Two new links will be added to the airmail and passenger plane system in the northwest by the Northwest Airways, Inc., on June 1, company officials announced today.

Awarding of airmail contracts to the airways company will enable extension of the company's system from the Twin Cities to Duluth and from Fargo to Bismarck, N. D. Notification of the contract awards were received from the United States postoffice department yesterday.

Inauguration of an amphibian plane on the new Duluth line will enable passengers and mail from Duluth to reach New York and other eastern points within 24 hours, airways company officials said. Present plans call for a 1 p. m. takeoff from St. Paul, the plane arriving in Duluth at 1:30 p. m. The plane will then return immediately to connect with the afternoon plane to Chicago.

Establishment of the Fargo to Bismarck line will unite the capital of North Dakota with the St. Paul to Winnipeg line. Airways officials said the Bismarck route may become a part of a proposed northwestern air line to the Pacific coast.

In addition to Mate the group included Twenty Grand, runner-up in the Preakness, Ladder, Surf Board, Anchors Aweigh and Equipoise, one of the early favorites for the derby title whose hopes received a severe setback when he failed to place in the Pimlico classic Saturday.

With the arrival of the eastern entries, speculation as to the probable winner continued with the general consensus among horsemen that the race this year would be more of an open affair than ever before.

A more definite lineup on a favorite may be forthcoming today following the last of the derby trials, a race of one and one sixteenth miles for the western candidates. The competition will serve as the final hard training run for Pittsburgher, Sweep All, Spanish Play, The Mongol, Prince D'Amour and Major Lanphier.

Up, Mrs. J. N. Crofton's chestnut son of High Cloud and Idleness, stamped himself of derby caliber and a certain starter yesterday when he defeated five other campaigners in a special mile race. Mike Hall, Agua Caliente handicap victor, and Kene-saw, another derby eligible, were among those defeated. The Crofton candidate ran the mile in 1:14.16 over a heavy track. C. McHugh, who will ride up in the derby, was in the saddle. Sunday's rains made the track muddy and most of the candidates were let off with light workouts yesterday. With forecasters calling for clear and cool weather Friday and Saturday, indications are that the track will be lightning fast.

THAT AFFECTS EITHER HORNSBY OR WILSON TOO

RAJAH IS MANAGER AND BACKED BY OWNER AND PRESIDENT

HORNSBY DRAWS $40,000 SALARY AND WILSON $35,000 A YEAR

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, May 12.—The apparently premature reports that Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs, planned to bench Hack Wilson, second highest paid player in the National League, because of his batting slump served one purpose—they showed that Hornsby stands with his boss.

"Rogers Hornsby is manager of the Cubs and he is running the ball club," said William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the team, when the rumor reached him from New York about Hornsby's contemplated action.

"Everything is in Hornsby's hands and I have the greatest confidence in him."

If Hornsby needed any more support, it came from William Veck, Cubs president who is ill at his home. "Hornsby has charge of the Cubs and whatever changes he wishes to make are entirely in his power," said Veck.

Any trouble between Hornsby and Wilson would wreck the championship hopes of the Cubs, and the two ball players probably know that better than anyone on the outside. Hornsby is drawing a salary of $40,000 and Wilson approximately $35,000, and both are good business men. They may not be particularly fond of each other, but when it comes to a baseball game the odds are that they understand each other pretty well.

Hornsby told the writer last week he wouldn't hesitate to bench himself or any player if the occasion called for such a move. If Wilson were batting .270 in 50 or 60 games instead of 19, the chances are he would bench him if he had a better man to take his place.

The biggest risk Hornsby would run would be in arousing public sentiment against him and for the more popular Wilson, but Hornsby has incited the fans against him before and seems to be immune to what they say or think.

The Can Island is the nickname of Niauou, one of the Tonga or Friendly Islands, situated in the South Pacific halfway between Samoa and Fiji. It is a small volcanic island which owes its name to the fact that the islanders' mail bag is a tin can bobbing in the water to be picked up by a passing steamer.

The J. C. Penney team beat the John M. Bye team in a kittenball game last evening with a score of 8 to 6.

Erickson had three strikeouts, and Benny Foster had ten. Erickson and Flaata were the batteries for the Bye team, and Foster and Radford for the J. C. Penney team.

The Penney team found difficulty in hitting the offerings of Erickson. Foster had his usual string of strikeouts. The Penney team still retains their lead without a defeat.

AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT CAMPAIGN FITS PREDICTIONS

JUSTIFIES PRE-SEASON OPINIONS OF MANY BASEBALL EXPERTS

IN 5TH WEEK 4 TEAMS REGARD-ED AS STRONGEST HOLD IST DIVISION BERTHS

New York, May 12.—The American League's 1931 pennant campaign apparently is justifying the pre-season opinions of baseball experts.

As the fifth week of the race started the four teams regarded as the strongest in the circuit are holding the first division berths, although the Philadelphia Athletics, favorites to repeat their championship performances of 1929 and 1930, are still a game from first place.

The Yankees in first place hold a one-game advantage over the Athletics and Indians who are tied for second while Washington in fourth position is a game and a half from the league leadership.

When the season started, Philadelphia was the favorite to win first honors with Washington a close second and the Indians and Yankees battling it out for third and fourth places.

Washington advanced to fourth place yesterday by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 14 to 4, in the only American contest played. The Senators clinched the game by scoring six runs in the first inning.

Rain and cold weather forced postponement of the Boston-Cleveland, Philadelphia-St. Louis and New York-Chicago games.

The St. Louis Cardinals, who also have lived up to pre-season predictions by building up a substantial lead against the western National League clubs, began their inter-sectional competition by dropping a 2 to 1 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Heinie Meine pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4 to 2 victory over Brooklyn in the other National League contest of the day. Meine allowed but five hits.

TWO NEW LINKS ADDED TO AIRMAIL, PASSENGER SERVICE

St. Paul, May 12.—(U.P.)—Two new links will be added to the airmail and passenger plane system in the northwest by the Northwest Airways, Inc., on June 1, company officials announced today.

Awarding of airmail contracts to the airways company will enable extension of the company's system from the Twin Cities to Duluth and from Fargo to Bismarck, N. D. Notification of the contract awards were received from the United States postoffice department yesterday.

Inauguration of an amphibian plane on the new Duluth line will enable passengers and mail from Duluth to reach New York and other eastern points within 24 hours, airways company officials said. Present plans call for a 1 p. m. takeoff from St. Paul, the plane arriving in Duluth at 1:30 p. m. The plane will then return immediately to connect with the afternoon plane to Chicago.

Establishment of the Fargo to Bismarck line will unite the capital of North Dakota with the St. Paul to Winnipeg line. Airways officials said the Bismarck route may become a part of a proposed northwestern air line to the Pacific coast.

EVERY BUILDING IN MINNESOTA

PROPERTY owners—individually and collectively—create the conditions which determine the cost of their fire insurance.

To establish rates in keeping with individual conditions requires careful measurement and estimate of the fire hazards in practically every commercial building.

Consider the size of that task—with details of construction, occupancy, protection and exposure to be recorded. Even then one has but an incomplete idea of the service involved in establishing fire insurance rates.

Through the inspection and rating organization in your state, supports a free inspection service. This inspection organization is constantly advising property owners and communities as to specifications for new buildings or changes in old ones—the installation of fire protective devices—community fire prevention programs—and fire safety activities. All of this service is free.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

Engineering Standards— Underwriters' Laboratory Tests

Engineering standards published by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, also researches and tests of Underwriters' Laboratories pertaining to the strength and usefulness of materials and devices, are available to the inspection organization.

Should an owner desire to improve his property where standard conditions do not already prevail, information showing him how to do it will be supplied without charge through his insurance agent or broker.

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association certifies to these statements:

- 1 Iso-Vis Motor Oil did not thin out from dilution.
- 2 During the entire test of 9,000 miles, the engines and chassis of all cars were lubricated effectively.
- 3 Oil Added: only 68/100 of a quart—average for all cars—in 1,000 mile test at 30 miles per hour, using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).
- 4 Effect of speed on oil consumption: Speed is the chief factor affecting oil consumption. All oils tested at 55 miles per hour showed a consumption nearly 7 times that at 30 miles per hour. Iso-Vis gave excellent oil economy at all speeds.
- 5 Carbon: only 6.23 grams per cylinder at 30 m. p. h. using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy), average for all cars.
- 6 Cylinder Wear: scarcely measurable—less than one one-thousandth (1/1000) of an inch in any cylinder in any car for the entire 9,000 miles.

ASK BIDS FOR NO. 2 GRADING ON JUNE 2

Highway to be Relocated Northeast
From Brainerd for Distance
of 9.9 Miles

START WORK SHORTLY

Four Grade Crossings and Eight
Sharp Turns on Old Route
to be Eliminated

Commissioner of State Highways C. M. Babcock today called for bids for the relocation of Trunk Highway No. 2 northeast from Brainerd for a distance of 9.9 miles, June 2. Bids on three other projects will also be taken at that time and all the work is to be completed this summer or late fall.

The new route of Highway No. 2 will be on a diagonal, on the north side of the railroad. Four grade crossings and eight sharp turns on the old route will be eliminated by the relocation, but one new grade crossing, over a spur track, is required. The relocation will reduce the distance 2.7 miles.

Minnesota's trunk highway mileage will be reduced nearly 11 miles by four trunk highway relocation and grading projects to be started next month, according to Commissioner C. M. Babcock. A total of 52 sharp turns and nine grade crossings will be eliminated by selecting new locations for the permanent highways. Three of the four projects (T. H. No. 2 included) are in preparation for paving, to be built in a year or two, after the new grade is compacted.

Trunk highway No. 12 will be rebuilt on a diagonal along the Minnesota river between Granite Falls and Montevideo. A bridge is already under construction to carry the highway over the river into Granite Falls from the East. Northwest from Granite Falls it will follow the south side of the river to a point about three miles southeast of Montevideo, where a new bridge will be built over the Minnesota river. The relocation will reduce the distance 3.6 miles and remove a dozen sharp turns. Two grade crossings will be eliminated by relocation and one by building an underpass. Included in the same contract will be a 3.1 mile project on No. 17 and a 2 mile project on No. 48, just outside of Granite Falls.

Six sharp turns will be eliminated and the distance cut 1.8 miles, by a relocation of No. 14 near Vesta. Starting at a point two miles east of the Lyon county line, where the old road turns north, the new road will run due east about 3 1/2 miles, then northeast to Vesta, and north to the junction of No. 7. No. 14 is being paved this summer from Redwood Falls to Gaylord and also east and west of Marshall.

Twenty one sharp turns on T. H. No. 36, between Battle Lake and Henning, will be removed by rebuilding this road between these points. The new route will follow a curved course on the south side of the railroad and will shorten the distance 2 miles and eliminate two railroad crossings.

The list of projects, with length and yardages, follows:

Grading

T. H. No. 14—From Junction T. H. No. 67 to 2 mi. E. of W. Redwood county line, 10.8 miles, 250,500 cu. yds. excavation.

Leonard's brother "Beve" Beveridge enlisted in the Navy in 1924 and is at present attached to the battleship California. He is a member of the ship's baseball team and his fine defensive play was a big factor in the ships winning of four feet championships during the past five years. They are both graduates of the Little Falls high school.

BUTCHERS THREW CLEAVERS AT BANDITS

Minneapolis, May 12.—(UP)—Two negroes who held up the Chicago Retail meat market today probably will not attempt to rob the market again, despite the fact they obtained $700 and escaped.

All went well in the holdup attempt at first, the bandits were handed the money as soon as they asked for it. Then they turned to go. One of the pair forced a path through more than a score of customers while the other followed.

Suddenly one of the butchers seized a meat axe and hurled it at the robbers. It struck in the wall just in front of the second bandit who screamed in fright and scampered into an alley.

Another butcher picked up a cleaver and chased the men for several blocks until he had them cornered in a blind alley. The negroes frantically jumped at a high wall and after several attempts managed to scale it and made good their escape.

Contracts were let by the Minnesota Highway department last week for two paving projects, totaling 19.4 miles, five grading projects, totaling 44 miles, three bridges, and one graveling job, according to announcement by Commissioner C. ### DISABLED MEN AIDED

Mrs. A. C. Mraz is Chairman of Legion Auxiliary Committee Conducting Sale

Each year a couple of weeks preceding Memorial Day, the American Legion sponsors and the American Legion Auxiliary conducts a national poppy sale to provide funds for the veterans welfare work.

There is only one official Legion and Auxiliary poppy—and it is made entirely by disabled men in the auxiliary poppy work room at Minneapolis and bears the approved label of both organizations.

Each person buying a poppy helps the disabled earn their own living as well as helping the local American Legion auxiliary make some child or wife of a disabled man in their own locality happy by providing food and clothing.

The poppy is worn on Memorial Day in memory of those who sacrificed their lives for us, and this is truly honoring the dead through service to their comrades the disabled veterans.

Poppies will be sold on the streets of Brainerd on Friday and Saturday, May 15 and 16. Mrs. A. C. Mraz is local chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Mannis. Many Brainerd women and the Campfire girls are giving of their time to assist in the sale of the poppies. Don't pass them without doing your bit in buying a poppy—a nickel or a dime, or any amount desired. "In Flanders Fields the Poppies blow. Between the Crosses row on row."

Highway to be Relocated Northeast
From Brainerd for Distance
of 9.9 Miles

START WORK SHORTLY

Four Grade Crossings and Eight
Sharp Turns on Old Route
to be Eliminated

Commissioner of State Highways C. M. Babcock today called for bids for the relocation of Trunk Highway No. 2 northeast from Brainerd for a distance of 9.9 miles, June 2. Bids on three other projects will also be taken at that time and all the work is to be completed this summer or late fall.

The new route of Highway No. 2 will be on a diagonal, on the north side of the railroad. Four grade crossings and eight sharp turns on the old route will be eliminated by the relocation, but one new grade crossing, over a spur track, is required. The relocation will reduce the distance 2.7 miles.

Minnesota's trunk highway mileage will be reduced nearly 11 miles by four trunk highway relocation and grading projects to be started next month, according to Commissioner C. M. Babcock. A total of 52 sharp turns and nine grade crossings will be eliminated by selecting new locations for the permanent highways. Three of the four projects (T. H. No. 2 included) are in preparation for paving, to be built in a year or two, after the new grade is compacted.

Trunk highway No. 12 will be rebuilt on a diagonal along the Minnesota river between Granite Falls and Montevideo. A bridge is already under construction to carry the highway over the river into Granite Falls from the East. Northwest from Granite Falls it will follow the south side of the river to a point about three miles southeast of Montevideo, where a new bridge will be built over the Minnesota river. The relocation will reduce the distance 3.6 miles and remove a dozen sharp turns. Two grade crossings will be eliminated by relocation and one by building an underpass. Included in the same contract will be a 3.1 mile project on No. 17 and a 2 mile project on No. 48, just outside of Granite Falls.

Six sharp turns will be eliminated and the distance cut 1.8 miles, by a relocation of No. 14 near Vesta. Starting at a point two miles east of the Lyon county line, where the old road turns north, the new road will run due east about 3 1/2 miles, then northeast to Vesta, and north to the junction of No. 7. No. 14 is being paved this summer from Redwood Falls to Gaylord and also east and west of Marshall.

Twenty one sharp turns on T. H. No. 36, between Battle Lake and Henning, will be removed by rebuilding this road between these points. The new route will follow a curved course on the south side of the railroad and will shorten the distance 2 miles and eliminate two railroad crossings.

The list of projects, with length and yardages, follows:

Leonard R. Beveridge Accepted at Brainerd Recruiting Station

Leonard Roland Beveridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Beveridge, of Little Falls, enlisted in the U. S. Navy via the Brainerd Sub-Recruiting Station May 8.

He was transferred to the Great Lakes naval training station for a nine week period of preliminary training, after which he will be granted a 12-day leave of absence to visit his parents before attending a trade school or transferred to duty with the fleet.

Leonard's brother "Beve" Beveridge enlisted in the Navy in 1924 and is at present attached to the battleship California. He is a member of the ship's baseball team and his fine defensive play was a big factor in the ship's winning of four feet championships during the past five years. They are both graduates of the Little Falls high school.

BUTCHERS THREW CLEAVERS AT BANDITS

Minneapolis, May 12.—(U.P.)—Two negroes who held up the Chicago Retail meat market today probably will not attempt to rob the market again, despite the fact they obtained $700 and escaped.

All went well in the holdup attempt at first, the bandits were handed the money as soon as they asked for it. Then they turned to go. One of the pair forced a path through more than a score of customers while the other followed.

Suddenly one of the butchers seized a meat axe and hurled it at the robbers. It struck in the wall just in front of the second bandit who screamed in fright and scampered into an alley.

Another butcher picked up a cleaver and chased the men for several blocks until he had them cornered in a blind alley. The negroes frantically jumped at a high wall and after several attempts managed to scale it and made good their escape.

LEGION POPPY DAYS MAY 15, 16

Poppies to be Sold on Streets of Brainerd Next Friday and Saturday

DISABLED MEN AIDED

Mrs. A. C. Mraz is Chairman of Legion Auxiliary Committee Conducting Sale

Each year a couple of weeks preceding Memorial Day, the American Legion sponsors and the American Legion Auxiliary conducts a national poppy sale to provide funds for the veterans welfare work.

There is only one official Legion and Auxiliary poppy—and it is made entirely by disabled men in the auxiliary poppy work room at Minneapolis and bears the approved label of both organizations.

Each person buying a poppy helps the disabled earn their own living as well as helping the local American Legion auxiliary make some child or wife of a disabled man in their own locality happy by providing food and clothing.

The poppy is worn on Memorial Day in memory of those who sacrificed their lives for us, and this is truly honoring the dead through service to their comrades the disabled veterans. Poppies will be sold on the streets of Brainerd on Friday and Saturday, May 15 and 16. Mrs. A. C. Mraz is local chairman, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Mannis. Many Brainerd women and the Campfire girls are giving of their time to assist in the sale of the poppies. Don't pass them without doing your bit in buying a poppy—a nickel or a dime, or any amount desired. "In Flanders Fields the Poppies blow. Between the Crosses row on row."

RHEUMATISM IS PUT TO ROUT!

Consider, For Your Own Sake, How This Remarkable Compound Wins Its Victories

There is a real lesson in the experience of Mrs. Clara Binz, Route No. 6, San Antonio, Tex. She says: "I had rheumatism for seven years. Pains accompanied every movement. My stomach was weak. I bloated badly and lost weight steadily. Rheumatism left me after three weeks of the Konjola treatment. My appetite increased and I gained weight."

Now read the statement of Mr. J. R. Carlie, 603 South Ninth Street, Waco, Tex. "I suffered for three years with stomach trouble and rheumatism. The pain kept me awake at night. I bloated terribly. Konjola brought me almost immediate relief and today I am free from the pain of rheumatism or stomach trouble. # "MURDER AT EAGLE'S NEST"

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

"Bim" Martin, young newspaper reporter and her fiancé, Walter Vance, assistant police chief, are baffled by the murder of Baroness von Wiese at Eagle's Nest and the theft of her jewels. The outstanding suspects are the butler, who denies receiving a note from the Baroness, her maid with whom she quarreled, and Mary Frost, whose shawl was wrapped around the body. Mary left the party with her husband, Ted, returning alone, later, for the shawl. According to the maid, Laura Allan had borrowed it. Laura claims she saw Mary enter the garden wearing the shawl. Bim feels that Mary is shielding Ted who flirted with the Baroness. A stone from a man's ring is found in the garden. Carl Carey, New York reporter, arrives at Kingcliffe. "Bim" is attracted to him. His implications regarding Laura Allan prompt "Bim" to investigate.

CHAPTER XX.

CAREY began to talk about other things then and Bim discovered that she was hanging on his words, thinking him charming. He was different from anyone she ever had known before; his quick mind stimulated while his debonaire sophistication fascinated her. Almost against her will she compared him with Walter, the straightforward unromantic young fellow she had known all her life. Rather in a daze she heard herself promise to accompany him to the second show at the Bijou Movie Palace since, as she explained, she had something which would keep her busy until nearly nine o'clock.

When she left the Maple Leaf Tea Room Bim meant to visit Mary Frost but what Carey had said about Laura Allan kept turning in her mind. Laura indeed was a woman of mystery. And this was no time to be mysterious.

Bim decided, suddenly, to find out something about Laura Allan. She walked slowly through Kingcliffe's tiny business section and on under the fine old overhanging trees out River Road. There lawns unrolled like huge squares of emerald velvet bordered by sylvia and cannaes and dahlias and the river was a shining mirror in the warm, drowsy sunlight of late afternoon.

But she saw none of these things as she moved along with her head down, eyes on the ground, buried in thought. She was trying to remember all she knew about Laura Allan and was surprised to find how little it was.

Walter had stated that the Pine Hill crowd did not like Laura, although they—or, at least Em Hardy—invited her to all their affairs and treated her as one of themselves. Bim wondered if this actually were the fact or if it merely happened that Laura's reserve kept them all at a distance.

Laura, as Bim herself had told Carey, did not care for the crowd; still, now that she thought it over, it seemed possible that what appeared to be dislike on Laura's part might be merely her natural aloofness of manner. Otherwise why did she spend her time with them? Laura had no other friends and no intimates at all.

No Connection

Of course, Mary Frost did not like Laura and this was strange indeed, since Mary invariably liked everyone. How did Laura feel about Mary?

No one, probably, ever would know that—not that it mattered. After all, why did anything concerning Laura matter to the solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of the Baroness von Wiese?

Bim stopped there in the street as she realized suddenly that neither Laura nor anything about her mattered in the least so far as she could see. But she remembered what Carey had said; his theory that much went on beneath the surface of the most circumspect lives. And with this she resumed her stroll. In order to be quite honest, however, Bim owned to herself a deep curiosity about Laura.

"Maybe I'm just being very feminine and a little catty," she told herself. "And again maybe I'm developing a nose for news."

But I have a feeling that Mr. Carl Carey will do some snooping, as he calls it, and I may as well know what there is to know first." She went on to Judge Allan's home, a rambling old house in the Early English style, set far back from the street and half way down the hill descending to the river. But she did not turn in. It occurred to her that she would learn nothing from Laura herself and she had no wish to listen to Judge Allan's grouchy mutterings about everything in general, nor to be drawn into conversation with Mrs. Allan, a woman whose only interest seemed to be the Kingcliffe Garden Club, of which she was president, and the crysanthemums she coaxed into flowering every fall.

A Direct Route

Bim fancied she knew a more direct route to information—a back-stairs route—which, at this moment, lay up the hill and through Willow Lane in the cottage of Mrs. Briggs, the Allan housekeeper, who was allowed to repair to her home for a couple of hours every afternoon.

With this in mind, Bim turned into Willow Lane, and presently seated herself in the neat little kitchen of Mrs. Briggs, who was busily engaged in the task of "putting up" apple butter.

Mrs. Briggs, a large, mournful-visaged woman, shook her head and declared that no good would come of the goings-on in the Allan household.

"She's that funny, Miss Laura is, and a girl that will have her way no matter what. I mind the time she was just a baby, and her pa that provoked with the way she'd stand a-lookin' and saying nothing till you'd want to turn her over your knee. I guess it was a sorry day that sent her back from school to spoil her sister's wedding—not that I hold with that snip of a Mr. Ted Frost, Miss Bimmy, dear."

"Did Laura spoil her sister's wedding?" Bim inquired, casually. Mrs. Briggs, who knew, would be stricken dumb by any show of interest. But now that good lady closed a melancholy eye and nodded.

"My guess is as good as another's," she declared. "I seen her and Mr. Ted Frost lallygagging around the house and garden, him as was as good as married to Miss Marjorie. And then what happens but a terrible row, with Miss Marjorie in hysterics, and the Judge stamping up and down till I thought he'd take a fit of apoplexy, and the next I know there'll be no wedding, and the girls are gone. It's my opinion," she added wisely, "that Miss Laura set out to make trouble for the excitement of it."

Bim was duly sympathetic with Marjorie and indignantly with Laura. "I guess it's a good thing that Bimmy Baird that she doesn't intend to marry him, Mrs. Briggs."

"Then, if she doesn't," inquired Mrs. Briggs, "why does she keep encouraging the poor fellow?"

"Oh, but she doesn't! Why, nobody in this world ever has known Laura Allan to encourage Bimmy Baird!"

"Am I nobody, then?" demanded Mrs. Briggs truculently. "Excuse me, Miss Bimmy, dear, but you don't know the goings-on of Miss Laura, you and them friends of yours. Don't I hear the two of them many a night, what with me sleeping right across the garden from her apartment, talking and talking till I get up and shut the window so's I can sleep, it's that late before she's letting him go home and to bed like an honest man."

With a little thrill of excitement tingling in her throat Bim nevertheless shrugged and asked in a bored tone what Mrs. Briggs meant by Laura's apartment. "She lives at home, doesn't she? I didn't know she had an apartment."

Mrs. Briggs sat down in order to do the matter full justice. "It's some of her nonsense, that's what it is. First she teases her pa for a studio in the village somewhere so's she can go to work, she says—her that's never done a lick in her life. Well, her Pa says no but she keeps at him and fin'ly he lets her have the little south wing that was shut up after Grandma

Allan passed away. Miss Laura moved herself in bag and baggage and there she stays when she's around home, never letting her pa or ma come near it. And the Judge might's well give in to a studio, I'm thinking, for she goes and comes as she pleases and nobody's the wiser."

"Well! And you've seen Bimmy Baird visiting her there, Mrs. Briggs?"

"Well, not exactly seen him, Miss Bimmy. But I hear 'em talking all hours. I sleep across the garden over the kitchen and voices carry—not that I'd ever listen, mind you."

"And Bimmy Baird," Mrs. Briggs divulged with a sly wink, "ain't such a hand to be put off as you'd think! Wasn't it only a few nights ago I heard him say something would surprise folks if they knew." "Really! Oh, Mrs. Briggs, aren't you going to tell me what it was?" "If you knew how you astonish me!" Highly satisfied in a doleful way, Mrs. Briggs allowed herself to be persuaded. "Well, they'd been quarreling," she began. "Not quarreling loud—just some words and then neither of them would say anything. Thinks I, 'he's laying down the law and she's being naughty.' And then he speaks up loud enough so's I couldn't help hearing. 'It's one thing or the other, my dear, and no more of this. Says he, 'If I can't have you, no one else will.' 'Yes'm' he said, 'if I can't have you, no one else will.' And then neither of them said anything and after a while her light went out and I knew he was gone."

Mrs. Briggs sat back with the air of one who has done something very well indeed. "What do you make of that?"

"I'm sure I don't know. Only it doesn't sound much like Bimmy Baird, does it? A threat like that just isn't Bimmy's style at all." "You can't tell about them young fellas," Mrs. Briggs stated, losing interest. "And now I'll have to be getting back for the Judge'll take my head off if his dinner is late."

Difficult Questions

What bearing did all of this have upon the murder of Countess Von Wiese?

There was no use asking herself these questions, because Bim could not answer them. And when she got back to Main Street, she saw by the village clocks it was too late for her to call on Mary Frost if she meant to keep her engagement with Carl Carey.

There was glamor about the evening for Bim. Merely stepping into the Bijou movie palace with Mr. Carey was like walking into some strange and delightful land since he made it an adventure for her in his casual, laughing way.

He had a curious sense of humor; one which seemed to ferment out the ridiculous side of everything but which remained good-natured nevertheless. Bim found herself amused as she never had been in her life before. Carey, she kept telling herself, was different from anyone she had known. But that alone, as she understood very well, was not his real attraction.

He had a trick of understanding, almost of reading her thoughts and this, while it sometimes proved disconcerting, was marvelous to her. Anyone else—Walter, for example—would seem very slow and rather stolid after Carl Carey.

The possibility that she might fall in love with Carey never crossed Bim's mind. He was wonderfully attractive; yet, if she thought about him from this angle at all, it was to reason vaguely that he would be here today and gone tomorrow, pursuing his brilliant, happy-go-lucky way where she could not follow. So she settled down to enjoy the moment and disregard what might come afterward.

RHEUMATISM IS PUT TO ROUT!

Consider, For Your Own Sake, How This Remarkable Compound Wins Its Victories

There is a real lesson in the experience of Mrs. Clara Binz, Route No. 6, San Antonio, Tex. She says: "I had rheumatism for seven years. Pains accompanied every movement. My stomach was weak. I bloated badly and lost weight steadily. Rheumatism left me after three weeks of the Konjola treatment. My appetite increased and I gained weight."

Now read the statement of Mr. J. R. Carille, 603 South Ninth Street, Waco, Tex. "I suffered for three years with stomach trouble and rheumatism. The pain kept me awake at night. I bloated terribly. Konjola brought me almost immediate relief and today I am free from the pain of rheumatism or stomach trouble. I never hesitate to recommend this wonderful remedy to my friends who need a good medicine."

"MURDER AT EAGLE'S NEST"
By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

"Bim" Martin, young newspaper reporter and her fiancé, Walter Vance, assistant police chief, are baffled by the murder of Baroness von Wiese at Eagle's Nest and the theft of her jewels. The outstanding suspects are the butler, who denies receiving a note from the Baroness, her maid with whom she quarreled, and Mary Frost, whose shawl was wrapped around the body. Mary left the party with her husband Ted, returning alone, later, for the shawl. According to the maid, Laura Allan had borrowed it. Laura claims she saw Mary enter the garden wearing the shawl. Bim feels that Mary is shielding Ted who flirted with the Baroness. A stone from a man's ring is found in the garden. Carl Carey, New York reporter, arrives at Kingcliffe. "Bim" is attracted to him. His implications regarding Laura Allan prompt "Bim" to investigate.

CHAPTER XX.

CAREY began to talk about other things then and Bim discovered that she was hanging on his words, thinking him charming. He was different from anyone she ever had known before; his quick mind stimulated while his debonaire sophistication fascinated her. Almost against her will she compared him with Walter, the straightforward unromantic young fellow she had known all her life. Rather in a daze she heard herself promise to accompany him to the second show at the Bijou Movie Palace since, as she explained, she had something which would keep her busy until nearly nine o'clock.

When she left the Maple Leaf Tea Room Bim meant to visit Mary Frost but what Carey had said about Laura Allan kept turning in her mind. Laura indeed was a woman of mystery. And this was no time to be mysterious.

Bim decided, suddenly, to find out something about Laura Allan.

She walked slowly through Kingcliffe's tiny business section and on under the fine old overhanging trees out River Road. There lawns unrolled like huge squares of emerald velvet bordered by salvia and cannas and dahlia and the river was a shining mirror in the warm, drowsy sunlight of late afternoon.

But she saw none of these things as she moved along with her head down, eyes on the ground, buried in thought. She was trying to remember all she knew about Laura Allan and was surprised to find how little it was.

Walter had stated that the Pine Hill crowd did not like Laura, although they—or, at least, Elmer Hardy—invited her to all their affairs and treated her as one of themselves. Bim wondered if it actually were the fact or if it merely happened that Laura's reserve kept them all at a distance.

Laura, as Bim herself had told Carey, did not care for the crowd; still, now that she thought it over, it seemed possible that what appeared to be dislike on Laura's part might be merely her natural aloofness of manner. Otherwise, why did she spend her time with them? Laura had no other friends and no intimates at all.

No Connection

Of course, Mary Frost did not like Laura and this was strange indeed, since Mary invariably liked everyone. How did Laura feel about Mary?

No one, probably, ever would know that—not that it mattered. After all, why did anything concerning Laura matter to her? The solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of the Baroness von Wiese?

Bim stopped there in the street as she realized suddenly that neither Laura nor anything about her mattered in the least so far as she could see. But she remembered what Carey had said; his theory that much went on beneath the surface of the most circumspect lives. And with this she resumed her stroll. In order to be quite honest, however, Bim owned to herself a deep curiosity about Laura.

"Maybe I'm just being very feminine and a little catty," she told herself. "And again maybe I'm developing a nose for news."

But I have a feeling that Mr. Carl Carey will do some snooping, as he calls it, and I may as well know what there is to know first. She went on to Judge Allan's home, a rambling old house in the Early English style, set far back from the street and half way down the hill descending to the river. But she did not turn in. It occurred to her that she would learn nothing from Laura herself and she had no wish to listen to Judge Allan's grouchy mutterings about everything in general, nor to be drawn into conversation with Mrs. Allan, a woman whose only interest seemed to be the Kingcliffe Garden Club, of which she was president, and the cyprianthems she coaxed into flowering every fall.

A Direct Route

Bim fancied she knew a more direct route to information—a back-stairs route—which, at this moment, lay up the hill and through Willow Lane in the cottage of Mrs. Briggs, the Allan housekeeper, who was allowed to repair to her home for a couple of hours every afternoon.

With this in mind, Bim turned into Willow Lane, and presently seated herself in the neat little kitchen of Mrs. Briggs, who was busily engaged in the task of "putting up" apple butter.

Mrs. Briggs, a large, mournful-visaged woman, shook her head and declared that no good would come of the goings-on in the Allan household.

"She's that funny, Miss Laura is, and a girl that will have her way no matter what. I mind the time she was just a baby, and her pa that provoked with the way she'd stand a-looking and saying nothing till you'd want to turn her over your knee. I guess it was a sorry day that sent her back from school to spoil her sister's wedding—not that I hold with that snip of a Mr. Ted Frost, Miss Bimmy, dear."

"Did Laura spoil her sister's wedding?" Bim inquired, casually. Mrs. Briggs, who knew, would be stricken dumb by any show of interest. But now that good lady nodded.

"My guess is as good as an other's," she declared. "I see her and Mr. Ted Frost lallygagging around the house and garden, him as was as good as married to Miss Marjorie. And then what happens but a terrible row, with Miss Marjorie in hysterics, and the Judge stamping up and down till I thought he'd take a fit of apoplexy, and the next I know there'll be no wedding, and the girls are gone. It's my opinion," she added wisely, "that Miss Laura set out to make trouble for the excitement of it."
